

Staffan Nöteberg

Writing
I write a book on personal productivity called Productivity Obsession. It has already published by Morgan Kaufmann in the US and it's now available in Germany, Austria, Belgium, Canada and Australia. My blog is called Productivity and my better half in www.staffannoteberg.com.

Teaching
I give public courses on Personal Productivity (Productivity 101) and Private (for professionals). Let me know if you want one of those courses in-house at your company. They are really popular in large and old firms in fact too. I have lectured in areas of Finance, Logistics, Retail, Healthcare, Law etc and many other major conferences in Europe and North America.

Consulting
For a professional software developer since 2000. I work as a freelancer on contracts. My main interest is related to software for the automotive industry (car projects). I also have experience in Java, JavaScript, Ruby, and many other technologies.

My main career from developer and moved to QA and User Acceptance.
